Brown Military Academy Stages 'Valentine' Ball

The Disc and Diamond club of Brown Military Academy in Glendora sponsored a Valentine Sweetheart's Ball at the Glendora Woman's Club Saturday evening, Feb. 4. The club was beautifully decorated in the Valentine theme under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Cullen R. Weems, social directors at Brown, and Cadet Lt. John Mitchem, El Cajon. Several of the cadets assisted in decorating and preparing the club for the ball, which was the best attended so far this year.

The cadets and their dates were greeted by the Cadet Battle Group Commander, his date, and members of the Battle Group Staff and their dates. These included Cadet Lt. Col. Garnett Williams, Harbor City; his date, Miss Gayle Hooley, Glendora; Cadet Lt. John Ellis, El Centro; and his date, Miss Kathryn Martin, also of Glendora. Cadet Capt. John Duggan, Barstow, officiated with the introductions.

During the course of the evening Miss Bonita Goldsmith, student at Arcadia High school, was selected as the Cadet Queen by a panel of judges composed of members of the staff, their wives and cadet officers. Selection at this ball makes Miss Goldsmith eligible for competition for Queen of the Year to be chosen toward the end of the school year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Goldsmith, 11224 Daneswood Dr., Arcadia. The queen was escorted by Cadet Lt. William Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rogers, 1800 Pelican Ave., San Pedro.

The cadets, their dates, and special guests enjoyed an evening of dancing to the excellent music of the Rhythm Gents dance band from Azusa.

FASHION SHOW . . . Girls in Mrs. Doris Hague's homemaking class at Newton School, Torrance, held a recent fashion show and tea to demonstrate what they had learned during their classes. Showing off the dresses that they made are (l-r) Charlene Burt, Sherry Swafford, Alice Wood, Suzanne Burr, and Nancy Reynolds. Girls also study cooking, grooming, and other aspects of homemaking.

Kuijpers Mark 47th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Kuijper, 24411 Park St., celebrated their 47th wedding anniversary on George Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

The couple were married in Glen Rock, N. J. in 1919. Mr. Kuijper was born in Holland. They are parents of William, 4111 173rd Pl., Peter John of Tucson and Mrs. Marie Davis of Woodbritz, Va. They also have 13 grandchildren.

To celebrate, the couple spent the day at the Adult Citizens club in Torrance.

Students on Brotherhood Week Slate

Menorah Federation of Temple Youth presented an original religious service at Temple Menorah of Redondo Beach on Friday evening, Feb. 17th. The theme was Brotherhood. Three foreign exchange students brought to this country by the American Field Service were guest speakers at the service honoring Brotherhood Week.

They delivered sermons on how they cope with brotherhood in their countries. The students were Maria Schurmen, Uruguay; Ingo Groggers, Germany; and Erick Lingmont, Netherlands.

The service was under the direction of Sandy Johnson, chairman of the Religious committee of MFTY. Others participating were Rick Becker, Lynne Goldsmith, Mike Cole, Linda Siegel and Carrie Luger. The young people received the guidance of Rabbi Henry E. Front, spiritual leader of Temple Menorah.

Jesterettes To Meet Here

Mrs. David Jones and Mrs. Fred Bever will be hosts to the Maub Ives 5 Jesterettes at the Jump'n Jack restaurant next Wednesday evening. After dinner, the club will go to the Jones' home on Newton St. in WALTERIA, where initiation of new members will be held.

The club met last month at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hatch in Palos Verdes. Election of officers was held. Among the new officers are Mrs. David Jones, directress, and Mrs. Olive Wittenburg, secretary.

Dinner Guests

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Osborne, 3026 Torrance Blvd., had as their dinner guests Wednesday evening, Mrs. W. I. Laughon, Mrs. Lolly Ahrens, Jack Snow, and Mrs. Grace Groat of Redondo. After dinner, the guests enjoyed color television.

Leo O. Geaslands Feted On Golden Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. Leo O. Geasland, 2350 W. 250th St., Lomita, were honored at a gala celebration on Sunday, Feb. 12, celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary. The open house was held at the home of their son, Jack Geasland in El Segundo. Co-hosts for the party were the couple's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Poling of Buena Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Geasland were married Feb. 8 in Davenport, Iowa. They have lived in California for the past 40 years and in Lomita for five years. Three granddaughters assisted at the reception, presiding at the coffee and punch tables. The honor couple cut a beautifully decorated anniversary cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Geasland were presented with gifts as well as the traditional "money tree."

Among the many guests attending were the best man at the wedding 50 years ago, Ralph Geasland of Hyde Park and the maid of honor, Mrs. Hazel McCullough of San Diego. The local guest list included Mr. and Mrs. William Hoopman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox.

In 7th, 8th Grades Homemaking Required In Torrance Schools

If seventh and eighth graders are better helpers for their mothers, it may be in part at least to instruction they receive in Torrance Schools' homemaking classes.

All seventh and eighth grade girls are required to take 24 weeks of homemaking instruction as part of the Torrance Schools' practical arts program. (At the same time, boys take shop.)

Girls get scientific instruction in various aspects of homemaking, a skill which the overwhelming majority will need in just a few years. Leading educators, including Dr. James B. Conant in his latest report, have urged that such instruction be given to youngsters of this age.

Although some girls have received home training in such feminine skills as sewing, grooming, cooking, health, home management, and care of children, many have not.

During the instruction period, girls get a chance to make clothing for themselves - a dress, skirt, jumper, blouse, or other article of their choice. They can choose their own patterns, within the limits of beginning students. Other student can make more complicated clothing projects.

They go through a basic study of foods - buying, picking a balanced diet, cooking, serving the food attractively, and storing leftovers. They may bake or cook various commonly used foods.

Often, at the end of the 12-week period of study, girls hold fashion shows and teas, to show off the clothes they made. Sometimes, the class decides to prepare a luncheon for parents or other guests.

Other aspects of the program include various home problems - safety, planning, furnishing, housekeeping, budgeting, and care of children.

Good grooming is emphasized in homemaking classes, with the teacher offering ideas on personal attractiveness.

Since Torrance Schools have an "8-4 plan," with seventh and eighth graders attend elementary schools, girls attend the homemaking sessions for 12 weeks each year, while boys learn about home mechanics.

Eleven Torrance elementary schools have shop and homemaking units. Each one is designed to serve either two or three schools, depending on enrollment. Students are taken to and from classes by bus.

These "practical arts" facilities are located at Calle Mayor, Casimir, Fern-Greenwood, Flavian, Hamilton, Jefferson, Magruder, Newton, Seaside, and WALTERIA Schools.

In this way, shop and homemaking courses, can be provided for the students without having to maintain expensive and only part-time facilities at each school.
